Clip Retention

Pruning

A pruned clip still exists on our platform but the video content has been removed from storage. That means it will have to be regenerated from the source demo file from the game.

For a clip to be considered for pruning, it must be older than 60 days and not been viewed in more than 60 days.

However, a clip will not be pruned if even if it matches age/view requirements when:

- it's owned by a paying Allstar user
- it's clip that's been pinned by an Allstar user
- we don't have demo files for us to recreate the clip

Archiving

OnDemand clips will be archived after 30 days.

After 90 days, we will archive deleted, pending, pruned, or errored clips.

That said, we also archive demo files after 90 days, so, they've really only got another 30 days to be able to rehydrate that clip (provide that the clip was created at the same time we stored the demo).

Demo File Retention

We currently store game demo files for a 90 days. If a demo file is still available from an alternate provider and the game supports the older demo files, we can still process clip requests for older demos.
